"I HAVE NOT THE BEE"

So Uncle Joe Cannon Declares as to Presidential Nomination.

SPEAKS OF NEXT CONGRESS

Would Rather Continue Making It a Success In His Party's Interest than Have Presidency Offered Him on a Golden Salver.

New York, Aug. 29.—Congressman Joseph G. Cannon, of Illinois, who is a guest of Congressman Joseph C. Sibley, of Pennsylvania, on a cruise through the Thousand Itlands on Mr. Sibley's yacht, is quoted by the Alexander Bay correspondent of the Herald as saying in an interview in reply to questions regarding his possible candidacy for the presidency:

"Am I a candidate for the Republican nomination for president? No; I have not the bee, personally. Would I accept the nomination? No citizen has ever declined it or ever will. I would rather continue making the next session of congress a success so that my party will deserve and win success in 1908, than have the presidency tendered to me on a golden salver.

"Now, to make this point. If congress does not act wise at the next session; if it is not actuated by calmness and patriotism, if it makes a great mistake and fails to meet the approval of the reasoning American public, there will not be much need for the election of delegates to the next national convention of the Republican party. In the great masses are men not talking politics now," continued the speaker.

"They are busy. Their ambition is to see that nothing is done to make them idle. This country is very prosperous. It would be a crime if congress should do anything at this time to upset business and it might make mistakes in half a dozen ways."

KIDNAPED BOY FOUND.

"Black Hand" Failing To Get Ransom, Released Barber's Son.

New York, Aug. 29—Michael Clara, 6-year-old son of a Brooklynb arber, who was kidnaped on July 23, was found Wednesday on the platform of an up-town elevated railroad station. He was well dressed and in good condition, and said his captors had treated him finely.

The parents of the boy received several threatening letters since the lad's disappearance, singned by the "Black Hand," demanding $500 for the safe return of the boy. The kidnapers, it is supposed, finally realized that the parents were unable to pay a ransom and abandoned the child.

Will Not Go to Summer Home.

New York, Aug. 29.—Attention has again been attracted to ex-President Grover Cleveland by the announcement from Princeton, N. J., that he had given up all hope of leaving his home there for his customary summer vacation in New Hampshire, because of the state of his health. Mr. Cleveland has been troubled with attacks of acute indigestion for a number of years and each attack has been more severe than the one that was before.

American Bar Association.

Portland, Me., Aug. 29.—The capacity of the city hall was severely taxed Wednesday by those who desired to hear the annual address before the American Bar association convention by Rt. Hon. James Brice, British ambassador to the United States. A large amount of business was in order Wednesday, including the nomination and election of officers and reports of special commtitees on classification of the law.

Peace Is Assured.

City of Mexico, Aug. 29.—It is announced here that peace in Central America is now assured through the intervention of the United States and Mexico. Formal statements giving details will probably be issued within a few days.

IMMUNITY FOR TAYLOR.

Protection Is Pledged to Former Kentucky Governor.

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 29.—In a letter addressed to Commonwealth's Attorney Robert B. Franklin, of this city, chief prosecuting counsel for the state in the Goebel murder cases, Governor Beckham assures that official of his co-operation with him in seeing that William S. Taylor is protected from arrest and allowed to return to the state of Indiana. The governor's letter to the commonwealth's attorney read as follows:

"To Hon. Robert B. Franklin, Commonwealth's attorney—Dear Sir: In response to your communication August 15, in reference to the matter of assuring William S. Taylor immunity from arrest in the event of his coming to Kentucky to testify in the case of the commonwealth versus Caleb Powers, I wish to say that in every way possible I shall co-operate with you in seeing that said Taylor, if he comes to testify in that case, shall be protected from arrest and allowed to return to Indiana.

"There is not the slightest question that I as governor and you as a commonwealth's attorney of the district in which he is indicted can absolutely insure him immunity from arrest, and a return to Indiana. You may, therefore, rely upon my aid, if necessary, to carry out your assurances to him of this immunity. Yours respectfully, J. S. B. Beckham Gov."

Taylor claimed the office of governor of Kentucky and was trying to act in that capacity when Goebel was murdered. Taylor has been a fugitive ever since the tragedy.

MAY CALL EXTRA SESSION.

Alabama Legislature May Assemble Again in November.

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 29.—Governor Comer is to get away Wednesday evening for his vacation, if it comes up to head him off. He says he is willing to let matters take their course for awhile. It now seems certain that he will call an extra session that will include in the business of the session a bill for an epileptic colony, that passed by the legislature just ended, being in some way defective.

Alabama Notes.

The governor has paroled John R. Caffey, a negro boy, who was sent up for highway robbery, the victim being a motorman of the traction company. He is a son of Abe Caffey, who organized negro soldiers in this section for the Spanish-American war. The boy is an epileptic and the street railway people, with many others, asked for his release.

Commissioner of Agriculture Wilkinson is away on a tour of Cullman county, where he is talking crops to the people of that section. While he is away Chief Clerk Wilkinson and Clerk Billingslea are looking after the office. Reports of the boll worm in Escambia county are being made to the office, and wil lbe looked into.

SOLDIER ACQUITTED.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Aug. 29. Announcement was made here that the courtmartial held here to try Private Cyrus Gillette, of Ft. Brady, who accidentally shot and killed Miss Elizabeth Cadenhead, of Ferguson, Ont., last July, returned a verdict of acquittal. Gillette shot Miss Cadenhead while shooting at a prisoner, who was trying to escape from Fort Brady.

Prosecution Attorney George B. Hollon said that an effort would be made to serve a warrant on Gillette and have him tried in the state courts on the charge of manslaughter. It is said that the plea of being placed twice in jeopardy would be used to bring the proceedings in the civil courts to naught.

Kaiser Thrown from Horse.

Hanover, Prussia, Aug. 29.—As emperor William was saluting the veterans at the review held here Tuesday, his horse slipped and fell, throwing his majesty to the ground. He arose immediately without assistance unhurt, mounted another horse and continued the review.

A RAIN OF BULLETS

Atlanta Revenue Men Ambushed by Moonshiners.

IN MOUNTAIN FASTNESSES

Deputies Williams and Hinton Have Narrow Escape from Blockaders, Whose Illicit Distillery They Had Destroyed.

Atlanta, Aug. 29.—After one of the most thrilling experiences in their careers in the government service, two Atlanta revenue men have just returned to the headquarters here. That they are not lying dead in the mountain fastnesses of North Carolina is not the fault of a band of moonshiners.

These men are Deputies C. D. Williams and E. J. Hinton, of Revenue Agent R. V. Sams' office, and they have just made a report of the trip which nearly cost them their lives.

A few days ago they went off on a trip to investigate a reported illicit still in north Georgia. It was in a remote spot—Mr. Sams doesn't care to give its location—and the people running the moonshine stills in this section of the state were known for the chances they would take in dealing out death to revenue men.

The two deputies were prepared for trouble and they approached the locality with caution. After considerable work they located the place where the blockade liquor was being made and they found it to be quite extensive.

Destroy the Still.

A battle for its possession would not have surprised them. They were prepared for such an emergency and were as watchful as Indians. Evidently the moonshiners running the still had been warned of the approach of the hated revenue men for the still was deserted, but there was evidence that the owner had not long been gone. A few hours' work was all needed to destroy the outfit and make it worthless for any future operations.

Both men were well mounted on horses secured when the trip was started and the return journey was made with as much caution as the visit of destruction. The officers had not gone far from the destroyed still when the crack of a rifle was heard and a bullet whizzed past their heads. Then came another and before either officer had time to locate the assassins, there was a fusillade of bullets.

A Rain of Leaden Missiles.

One of the horses was hit five times, and several of these shots narrowly missed the riders. Both deputies saw it was useless to stand and fight with ambuscaded moonshiners in the failing light and they sped their horses as fast as the rugged trail would permit and escaped.

Deputy Hinton and Deputy Williams are both well known in the revenue service and have been in the business many years. Each has a reputation for daring and bravery and their activity in running down moonshiners has made them many enemies in the mountains.

Work to Control Steamboats.

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 29.—The state railroad commission is pushing the work to get in control of the steamboat business of the state. It is hoped that everything will soon be utilized to better advantage to the entire state. Chairman Henderson is busy assembling the facts that he gathered on his trip to the river towns last week. The commission is also considering the question of a union depot at Gadsden, one that will be sufficient for the growing business of the town.

Gored by a Bull.

Frankfort, Ind., Aug. 29.—As the result of being gored by an enraged bull, Addison Ogle, one of the county's prominent farmers, is dead at his home near Pickard. The animal, which had been always docile, attacked him without warning and gored and trampled him in an awful manner. He lived but a short time.

ROPE BROKE WITH MAN.

Indiana, Pa., Aug. 29.—The first hanging in this county for more than twenty years took place here Tuesday and was not a success.

The victim of the law was Carmine Renzo, aged 45 years, and weighing 175 pounds. The weight of the man and the drop of five feet proved too much for the strength of the rope, which snapped in twain, when the trap was sprung, precipitating Renzo to the ground.

Jail attendants loosened the rope around his neck while others fixed the new rope to the scaffold, and the man, already half dead, was carried to the platform and the lever again sprung.

This time the execution was successful.

Renzo murdered his sweetheart, aged 33, at her home two years ago. It had been agreed that Renzo should marry the girl, providing he had paid the passage of herself and parents to this country. He did this and when the girl refused to wed him, he shot her.

BRIGHT OUTLOOK.

No Abatemen of Prosperity in Georgia and Alabama.

Columbus, Ga., Aug. 29.—The approach of the fall business season finds no abatement of progress and prosperity in Georgia and Alabama industrial and construction enterprises that have been projected along extensive lines are being pushed steadily to completion and there is no diminution, but rather an increase, in the number of new ones definitely planned. The past week has witnessed the awarding of contracts for the construction of links that will help to complete a great railroad system in Georgia, the chartering of a company which will build a railway through a rich section of Alabama, the organization of a company to construct a comparatively short but imporant interurban electric railway and the announcement of plants for manufacturing plants of substantial character.

"HAD MONEY TO BURN."

Actor Made Bonfire of His Cash and Then Killed Himself.

Webster City, Iowa, Aug. 29.—In sight of an astonished crowd, Carl Pressley, an actor, Tuesday made a bonfire in the street of his paper money, threw his jewelry in the sewer and then announced to a group of friends that he was going to kill himself. He drew a revolver from his pocket, walked across the street, and calling to a number of persons in the vicinity to watch him, fired a bullet into his brain. He died instantly.

CAUGHT IN DEATH TRAP.

Four Persons Cremated in Fire at Chicago.

Oklahoma City, Aug. 29.—Searching for an exit from the death trap that confronted them, and hemmed in on all sides, four persons were cremated in a fire on East Grand avenue.

The dead are:
Lillian Rayle.
Virgie Wallace.
Sadie Ward.
Walter Ward.

Worm Damaging Alabama Cotton.

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 29.—The boll worm is doing great damage to the cotton crop in Escambia and the neighboring counties, and is spreading to other sections of the state, according to reports that reach President W. H. Seymour, of the Alabama cotton association. He has just received a box of the worms from W. J. Holland, tax assessor of Escambia county. Mr. Holland said that he sent different sizes of the bolls and of insects in order that it might be seen how they work on the plant in all its stages. They showed up about Aug. 20 on a crop that was planted late and have been so busy that he will make only about a third of a crop, he says.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 29.—L. P. Carter, of Chicago, son of Brigadier General W. H. Carter, head of the department of the lakes, of the U. S. A., was killed instantly Tuesday night by an electric shock sustained in the dairy room of the University of Illinois at Champaign, where young Mr Carter was a special student.

As is customary in industrial colleges he had been set at the task of polishing and cleaning a combination electric and gas chandelier hanging from the ceiling of a room in the dairy. Mr. C. Potter, fellow student employe, who was in an adjoining room, hearing a piercing scream rushed in and found Carter lying dead killed by electricity. Carter had been standing upon a small stationary engine, while reaching up to the chandelier. The engine was surrounded with bolsters driven through the concrete floor and this completed the circuit.

None of the passengers or train men were hurt. The mail car was derailed and dragged 500 feet over the ties. The passengers were shaken up, although the train was running slowly. Secretary Taft assisted in rescuing the scared passengers.

FIRE AT WINDSOR.

Home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas, With Contents, Burned to the Ground.

Windsor, Aug. 29.—About 1:30 this morning the people of Windsor were aroused by the alarm of fire. They quickly gathered and found the house, recently bought by H. Spiva from Mrs. Finklea, and occupied by F. Thomas and family, all in a blaze.

The neighbors succeeded in saving the barn and out-buildings, but the house and furniture were a total loss.

Mrs. Thomas was first awakened by the chickens making a noise and on looking out of the window saw fire creeping up the outside of the kitchen. She awakened her husband, and he went out at once and tried to extinguish the fire. Mrs. Thomas assisted, but despite their efforts the whole house was soon in a blaze, and it quickly burned to the ground.

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

Interesting Meeting of the Board Was Held Wednesday Evening.

An interesting meeting of the Board of Public Works was held Wednesday evening at the office of Col. W. W. Hampton. There were present the only three members of the board in the city, Messrs J. H. Vidal, E. J. Baird and H. E. Taylor.

This meeting was held for the purpose of receiving the final estimate on the sidewalk, curb and gutter on Church and Mechanic streets, also to receive the bids for grading of East Main street, which is soon to be paved.

There was only one bid for the grading of East Main street, that bid being made by O. Petre, who also has the contract for paving. There was no action taken in the matter, but it is surmised that the contract will be let to Mr. Petre, the bid being a reasonable one.

A LIVELY CHASE.

Lem Hutchinson Made Things Interesting for Another Burley Negro.

There was an exciting chase for several blocks between Lem Hutchinson, a well-known negro of this city and another negro, Thursday morning, the trouble arising over the loan of $5 on a watch, Hutchinson making the loan.

It appeared that the negro, the name of whom could not be learned, went to Hutchinson on Wednesday and borrowed $5, pawning a watch for security. On the following day the negro came back to Hutchinson and wanted more money on the watch, which Hutchinson, who was acting in the capacity of a pawn broker, refused to give. He asked Hutchinson to show him the watch, and when he got it into his hands made a hasty retreat.

Hutchinson made an effort to catch the man, and chased him, for several blocks, but just as the High Springs train was pulling out he jumped aboard the rear car and was taken away, waiving defiance at Hutchinson with one hand, while his watch was in the other.

A. C. L. IMPROVEMENTS.

Depot Will Be Repainted, and Other Improvements Will Be Made.

There is something going to happen to the passenger and freight depot of the Atlantic Coast Line soon, which will mean a great deal to the appearance of things in that section.

The Atlantic Coast Line has actually decided to paint the building which is occupied by that road as a freight and passenger station. This is no joke. The company has opened its heart and its pocketbook for this expense, and not only that, they have agreed to erect a shed around two sides of the building.

If the Atlantic Coast Line would furnish necessary accommodations for ladies, these accommodations would be doubly appreciated by the traveling public.

JUDGE MASON'S COURT.

Negro Arraigned Upon Charge of Selling Liquor Went to Jail.

Officer Stringer made a good "haul" Wednesday night, when he arrested Ezekial Young, colored, for selling liquor contrary to the laws of the county.

Officer Stringer brought the negro to this city. He was arraigned before County Judge Mason, who required him to give a bond of $25[illegible] his appearance at the next term of the circuit court. Failing to [illegible] bond he was sent to jail.

A Popular Place.

During the vacation the University swimming pool seems to be a popular place with the boys and young men of the city.

This pool, which is really a creek, has been thoroughly cleaned by the University boys. They have also installed spring boards and other modern conveniences, and altogether this slab has been made a modern bathing.

While the University is closed, which is the principal swimming season, the boys of the city congregate there in great crowds, especially on Sundays, and the fun they have is something enormous.

A Pleasant Evening.

There was a social given by Mrs. Herbert Pinkoson Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Lena Tarlinsky of St. Augustine, who is visiting Miss Sallie Pinkoson.

The evening was passed with various games, delicious refreshments being served, and all present expressed their delight to their hostess for the pleasant event. A GUEST.

Lawrence Willis of Williston, an extensive contractor, was in the city yesterday. Mr. Willis came for the purpose of purchasing a quantity of doors and blinds for a building he is now erecting at Williston.

John Seagle has returned from the furniture markets of North Carolina, where he has been for the past three weeks. Mr. Seagle purchased an up-to-date line of goods, and his advertisement will appear in The Sun as soon as the goods arrive.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Clyatt and children, Frank and Gracy, of Kirkwood, were in the city yesterday. They were en route home from the Jamestown Exposition, returning via Tuskeegee, Ala., Mr. Clyatt's old home. They report a delightful trip.

Chas. H. Brown of Live Oak, president of the First National Bank of that city and one of the leading and most progressive citizens, was a business visitor to this city yesterday. Mr. Brown was formerly engaged in the cross-tie contracting business at Branford. He has many friends in this section of the State who are always glad to see him.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Wilson and daughter, Miss Ralphie, were among the passengers on the north bound Atlantic Coast Line train yesterday. Miss Ralphie will enter the Mary Baldwin Seminary at Staunton, Va., and after seeing her properly enrolled Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will proceed to New York, where they will spend a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Crawford, formerly of this city but now residing in Francis, Putnam county, who have been here on a brief visit, returned to their home yesterday. Mr. Crawford had his name enrolled on The Sun's subscription list before returning. He feels very much encouraged over the rapid growth of Gainesville, which he declares is the best interior city in Florida.

W. J. Hodge of Alachua, one of the most successful farmers in that section of the county, was in the city yesterday. Mr. Hodge brought to town a curiosity in the form of nine ears of corn which grew in one shuck on his place. This is something very seldom seen, and Mr. Hodge enjoys the distinction of being the second man in the county to produce such a yield, the other being J. S. Bailey of the Newberry section. Mr. Bailey, who saw the curiosity, stated that he had one shuck on his farm last year containing eleven ears of corn.

WHO WILL PAY THE FREIGHT?

There is a singular unanimity of opinion in every Republican leader from a Southern State that visits Washington. They are all for Roosevelt, or whoever he selects. As about all the Republican leaders in the South are Federal officials, whether of the white or black-and-tan variety, they evidently feel inseparably bound up with the administration and have sworn fealty to the particular Republican baron who lords it over them, and he, of course, whether it is Taft or Cortelyou, or other department chiefs, are faithful retainers of their liege lord, the President. Thus can party feudalism be perpetuated. It would seem that the Republican National Convention is being packed in advance for "me and my policies." Whether Knox or Fairbanks can arrange with the negroes who hold no office to come up with contesting delegations is another matter, but as Knox will have the steel trust back of him there will be ample means to finance the delegates. Judging by the past, there will be contests, for a lively fight in a Republican National Convention means "forty acres and a mule" to those who are seated as delegates. But someone must first "pay the freight" to Chicago or Cincinnati, or wherever the convention is held.

WHY WE IMPORT COTTON.

In the fiscal year ended June 30, 1907, says The Wall Street Journal, the United States imported nearly $[illegible] worth of raw cotton. This fact shows how intimate the commercial relations of this country have become with Egypt, whence nearly all of this import of over 105,000,000 pounds was derived. It shows, too, that we are paying over 19 cents a pound for the fibre, while that of our growth is exported at an average of 10.7 cents.

The reason lies in the fact that our spindels have practically ceased to grow the longer staple variety for which spinners are willing to pay the higher price and which now goes mainly to Egypt and to the lowlands of the Mississippi River plantations.

Sooner or later the spinners will begin to have more to say about the supply trouble, just as the beet sugar manufacturer now dictates the standard of sugar-bearing beets that he will accept from the farmer. When that time comes it will do away with much that now passes by sufrance under the name of farming.

JOHNSON AND GLENN.

A Southern man who has always been a regular Democrat furnishes some advice to the National Democracy as to its next Presidential ticket in the following couplets:

"If you want two successful, available men,
"For your candidates, nominate Johnson and Glenn—
"In this manner you'll get the best man of the West;
"And the latter, of Southerners, now seems the best."

There may be truth as well as poetry in this suggestion.

You can build up any sort of industry by means of a protective tariff which gives to those engaged in it a monopoly, if you are willing to make the public pay the cost of it. But such industries are burdens and nuisances. Whenever a tariff schedule gives rise to a monopoly it should be reduced or repealed, because it is an outrage upon consumers.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

REDUCED RAILROAD RATES.

The question of railroad rates, either fixed by the States on transportation within the State or fixed by the United States on interstate business, must eventually come before the United States Supreme Court on the question of constitutionality. The pressing issue is whether the rate reductions shall go into effect at once, or by injunctions issued by the lower Federal courts be postponed until each case is reached and is decided by the highest court. This matter of the railroads being able to take advantage of all law's delays was the contention of the Democrats when the railroad rate bill was being discussed in the Senate, and the Culberson amendment, which the Republicans defeated, was intended to cure that defect in the law. Regarding the same delay under State legislation the question is one of State rights, and whether the reduced rates can be held up by injunction of an inferior Federal court issued by a judge in evident sympathy with the railroads, when the natural order of procedure would be that the case should go to the State supreme court and thence to the United States Supreme Court. In the North Carolina cases the railroads were forced by Governor Glenn to acknowledge the supremacy of State courts and the reduced rate has already gone into effect.

The Mulberry Times prints this story of a recent bear hunt: "Some of Bartow's sportsmen went out a few days ago on a bear hunt and succeeded in capturing a fine, large bear. The gentleman who did the trick was named A. B. McLain, and it is said he was several days recovering from the shock. He held his nerve until the bear was put out of business, and then he is said to have yelled loud enough to have been heard for five miles around. We don't blame him. The matter with us would have been whether or not we would have thought of our mouth at all."

New York, Aug. 29.—A proposal to call out all the telegraph operators employed by brokerage firms, regardless of whether the firms have signed the union scale or not, is the latest development in the strike of the telegraphers. President Small has received a message from southern telegraphers urging that this step be taken. He replied that the men must remain at work until they had received further instruction from the governing body of the union, and at the same time called a meeting of all the men employed in brokerage houses in New York for Wednesday at which time the question of whether they will join the strikers will be discussed.

POISONOUS SMOKE.

Inhaled by New York Firemen—Five in the Hospital.

New York, Aug. 29.—Five firemen are in a hospital in this city in a serious condition as the result of inhaling poisonous smoke at a fire in Logan & Co.'s warehouse on Washington street.

Quantities of analine salts, used for making dyes, were stored in the building and burned fiercely, throwing off great volumes of smoke. Time and again the firemen who were on the roof of the building fighting the flames were overcome.

The fire was finally extinguished and all of the firemen apparently recovered from the smoke, but later in the day, however, the poison began to tell, and one by one the five men were removed to the hospital.

The hospital surgeons fear that two of the five will die, and the condition of the other three is serious.

A DISFIGURING ITCHING ECZEMA

Spread from Body to Face—Sufferer Was Ashamed to Go Out—Scales Formed and Her Skin Became Parched and Highly Discolored.

WAS CURED BY CUTICURA AFTER YEAR OF TORTURE

"I was suffering with eczema for a year and had tried all kinds of medical treatment but without any results. Small pimples broke out around my waist-line and where the clothing was tight on the body. These pimples began to enlarge and thicken until they formed in patches. Then it worked upward until my face was covered. At first I did not notice it much until I became warm from working. Then it seemed almost unbearable as the parts seemed inflamed and itched so that I could hardly keep from scratching it all the time. The places were rather scaly and became moist when rubbed. Afterward the skin seemed parched and highly discolored. I remained indoors as I was ashamed to be out in company. I had suffered for about seven months before I tried Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Pills. After I had used them a week, I found great relief and I continued for five weeks, not missing a single day and now you could not tell I had ever had eczema. My complexion is as good, if not better than ever, and I cannot find words sufficient to do the Cuticura Remedies justice. Minnie Hutchins, La Cygne, Kan., Apr. 19 and 30, 1907."

CURED 28 YEARS AGO

"When I was about eight years old, I think, my entire head was a mass of running sores that discharged awfully. They had to cut all my hair off. I took doctors' medicines but they did me no good, so some one told my mother to try Cuticura, so she did, and it cured me. I am thirty-six now, but the humor has never returned. Mrs. Lillian E. Milikin, 8 Vernon St., Providence, R. I., May 9, 1907."

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor of Infants, Children, and Adults consists of Cuticura Soap (25c.) to Cleanse the Skin, Cuticura Ointment (50c.) to Heal the Skin, and Cuticura Resolvent (50c.), (or in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per vial of 60) to Purify the Blood. Sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston, Mass.

PARLIAMENT PROROGUED.

One of the Longest and Most Arduous Sessions Ended.

London, Aug. 29.—With picturesque, old time ceremonial, the British parliament was prorogued on Wednesday, thus ending one of the longest and most arduous sessions, during which the royal assent was given to over sixty bills which the late houses passed.

The members of the house of commons assembled at noon and shortly afterwards they were summoned to the house of lords, where the king's speech was read. The statements made were of the usual colorless character, referring to the recent royal visits and the friendly relations existing between Great Britain and the other powers.

STARVED, THOUGH RICH.

Found Dying in Home by Neighbors Who forced Entrance.

New York, Aug. 29.—George Gould, 65 years of age, who was one of New Rochelle's wealthiest men, died in a hospital there of starvation and exposure, according to the physicians.

Gould, who acquired a fortune of $100,000 in the plumbing business and in real estate, lived alone in a house in which he allowed no person but himself to enter. His wife and children left him years ago because of his alleged stinginess.

Gould had been sick for days, and neighbors who forced an entrance into his house found him helpless from lack of nourishment and exposure.

Aged Minister Suicides.

Los Angeles, Aug. 29.—The Rev. Edward Hurt Jewett, an aged minister, took his life at the Manhattan Beach hotel Tuesday night by cutting his throat with a razor. He was 77 years of age, and frequently reverted to the uselessness of life at such an old age, and desired to die. He wished society might help him to end his existence. He was a prominent Episcopal rector, and was known throughout England and the United States.

Hotel Normandie To Go.

New York, Aug. 29.—Broadway's hotel district is to lose another noted landmark. Announcement is made that the Hotel Normandie at Broadway and Thirty-eighth street, is to be turned over to trade, and that it is to be rebuilt into stores, lofts and offices.

MORROCAN SITUATION.

General Drude Will Endeavor to Draw Hostile Moors In Trap.

Casa Blanca, Morocco, Aug. 29.—General Drude, the French commander, has decided to despatch a portion of his army about 5 miles south of Casa Blanca to a position near Tadders, where he will endeavor to draw the Moors into a trap.

The political chiefs here have opened the trial of 25 prisoners charged with assassination, robbery, pillage or connivance with the hostile Moors.

Tangier, Aug. 29.—Advices received here from Fez say that the Sultan's officers only succeeded after a fierce fight in forcing a collection of the sultan's troops sent to collect tribute from the tribesmen. Twenty of the sultan's soldiers were killed during the engagement.

Rumor of Sultan's Assassination.

London, Aug. 29.—The correspondent of the Tribune at Tangier telegraphs his paper under reserve a rumor that Sultan Abdul Aziz has been assassinated in the palace at Fez.

Gov. Comer To Take Vacation.

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 29—Governor B. B. Comer will get away in the middle of the week on his vacation. "I expect to leave as soon as I can get my desk clear," he said Monday, after returning from his Sunday at home. "There is a lot of work to be done, but I am sure I will soon get away." The governor seems to be pretty well pleased with the outlook for peace in the railroad war and expects to have all the railroads in line with the state laws by the first of October.

Don't Be Blue

And lose all interest when help is within reach. Herbine will make that liver perform its duties properly. J. B. Vaughn, Elba, Ala., writes: "Being a constant sufferer from constipation and a disordered liver, I have found Herbine to be the best medicine, for these troubles, on the market. I have used it constantly. I believe it to be the best medicine of its kind, and I wish all sufferers from these troubles to know the good Herbine has done me." Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Value Fixed for West Point Road.

Atlanta, Aug. 29.—The board of arbitration in the case of the taxable valuation of the Atlanta and West Point Railroad company has fixed the value of that property at a total of $3,678,539, which is $500,000 less than the comptroller general's assessment, but $1,200,000 more than the return made by the railroad company.

HAIR TELLS CHARACTER.

Color of Hair Said to Indicate a Person's Temperament.

Many people believe that blonde, or light hair denotes affection and dark hair constancy. A person without hair is not devoid of character; far from it. The disposition of the average bald-headed man is to show such solicitude for the welfare of others, that he neglects himself. A germ causes baldness. Prof. Sabouraud, of Paris, France, innocculated a rabbit with Dandruff germs, causing it to become totally bald in five weeks' time. To rid the scalp of these dangerous germs it is necessary to apply Newbro's Herpicide.

"Destroy the cause—you remove the effect."

"Figment of the enunciation" does not seem convincing; "figment of the imagination" is better. "Petticoats long on Sunday morning is a disgrace" is all right when the first two words are read "Petticoat lane."

In a police court assault case the prosecutor was made to say that the prisoner had given him "twins." What the prisoner really did was to give the prosecutor a "turn" (a fright). "The government were suffering from mental aberration," must have been set up by a compositor of the opposition politics. The real charge was "mutual admiration."

"De mortar ivil nice loreum" would trouble a Latin scholar. "De mortois nil nisi bonum" is more correct. "Jim the Penman" is easily recognizable as the hero of a play, and "Putty Polly," the racehorse, would throw up her pretty head in disdain to see herself so described.

For "a pair of scandals completed the costume" read "sandals," and for "Here is indeed a sundial" substitute "scandal." He lived in the "bubbubs" should be "suburbs," and "Call her, Herr, in" is understandable when printed "Caller herrin'."

A well known descriptive writer was startled to read in a recent first proof that he had described the fields surrounding the Derby course as "covered with boots and shoes." He was placated when informed that it had been altered to "booths and shows."

... could be filled with the amazing and amusing blunders of the compositor, but here space forbids of more than a final "howler," which is a classic in the printing world. "O tempora! O mores!" wrote a leader writer at ten minutes to 1 in the morning. "O Moses, indeed!" exclaimed the proofreader a quarter of an hour later when he "caught and bowled" the compositor who had improved the phrase into "O Tennyson! O Moses!"—London Express.

When Gunpowder Was New.

A curious feature about the evolution in methods of hunting was the hesitation with which gunpowder was taken up by the great nobles. Not only did it take quite a century to familiarize hunters with it, but the evidence that has come down to us shows that the humble classes were the first to use it for shooting game. Maximilian, ardent sportsman that he was, tells us himself that he could shoot farther and with greater accuracy with his crossbow than his keeper could with the fire tube. To prove this he tells us the well known story of a certain chamois standing at 200 fathoms, which, after being pronounced as too far off by his benchman, who was armed with one of the first sporting firearms mentioned in print, comes tumbling down, pierced at the first attempt by the emperor's bolt. From other sources we learn of strict measures being adopted to prevent poachers and "wood leafers" using firearms, and this at a period when princes still used the cumbrous crossbow and spear. It was only in the last quarter of the sixteenth century that firearms had ousted other weapons for certain forms of the chase, the deer baying being among the latter.—Gentleman's Magazine.

The Poisonous Black Sea.

The Black sea, which in some parts has a depth of more than 6,500 feet, is poisoned by sulphureted hydrogen wherever the water is deeper than 1,200 feet. This accounts for the curious fact that there is no organic life below that depth, excepting perhaps some bacteria of very low order, impregnated with sulphur. The causes for this phenomenon are explained by the quick outflow of the fresh water through the Bosporus, while salt water coming from the Mediterranean enters through a deeper current into the depths of the Black sea. The waters on the surface are, therefore, controlled absolutely by horizontal currents of considerable force, and vertical currents which might carry the noxious gases from the bottom to the surface and fresh oxygen from the surface to the bottom are hardly ever noticeable. The water at great depths is so saturated with sulphuric gas by the disintegration of organic matter sinking to the bottom by reason of its weight that no fish or other living being which needs oxygen for its organic system can exist beyond a stated depth.

Station Derelicts.

In every station one may find those who do not take trains or meet them, nor attend those who do. Some come to the waiting room only to wait—respectable derelicts still hoping that something will turn up, and wrecks who have given up hope. It is a warm place in winter, the seats are comfortable, and thoughtless passengers often obligingly leave newspapers behind them. It makes good waiting. There are so few other places to wait—so cruelly few for women adrift, but not yet foundered. Sometimes, to deceive that meddlesome busybody, the station detective, they carry in traveling bags and pretend to be pulled down with their burdens, emptied long since at the pawnshops.—Jesse Lynch Williams in Century.

Why He Let Them Wed.

Dean Pigou had a quaint old verger whose name was Sagar. Imagine him, a venerable figure with gray hair, clad in gown and verger's staff. In ignorance they had married a man to his deceased wife's sister. Sagar, whose business it was to settle the matter along the banns was at once cross examined. "Oh, yes, sham" said he, "I knowed right well. I knowed did you not tell ... I did tell them ... this was de... I says to them ... Father the Awful."—

Lincoln and Stanton.

There was a marked contrast between Lincoln's manner, which was always pleasant and even genial, and that of Stanton. The latter's stern, spectacled visage commanded instant respect and in many cases inspired fear. In receiving visitors, and they were legion, Stanton seldom or never sat down, but stood before a high desk as the crowd passed before him and one by one presented their requests or complaints, which were rapidly disposed of. He was haughty, severe, domineering and often rude. When I think of him in the daily routine of his public audiences the characterization of Napoleon by Charles Phillips, the Irish orator, comes to mind, "Grand, gloomy and peculiar."—David Homer Bates in Century.

Gambling in Church.

The mania for gambling will out, no matter how carefully hedged about by the law. Here is an illustration:

"It took a conversation I overheard at the close of the church service last Sunday night to bring me to a realization of the virulence of the betting fever," said a Harlem woman. "I actually heard two boys betting on the skill of the sexton in snuffing out the candles. One bet 25 cents that he would extinguish each candle at the first application of the snuffers, the other that he wouldn't. I had been watching the proceedings with the same thought in mind, but it never occurred to me to bet on the outcome."—New York Tribune.

A Wonderful Crab.

The Japanese spider crab is the most remarkable mimic of the crustacean group and is also the largest known crab. It has extraordinarily flexible pinchers, while its numerous arms are studded with hooked hairs and spines. By means of its pinchers it tears off small fragments of sponges and seaweeds. After first putting these to its mouth, which contains a glutinous saliva, the crab places them on the surface of its limbs and body by sticking them fast with a rubbing movement. By this method the crab succeeds in completely changing its appearance and rendering itself indistinguishable from the ... common to the bottom of the sea. While crawling along it seems as though a portion of the ocean bed were in motion, so close is the resemblance.

Children in Pain

Never cry as do children who are suffering from hunger. Such is the cause of all babies who cry and are treated for sickness, when they really are suffering from hunger. This is caused from their food not being assimilated but devoured by worms. A few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge will cause them to cease crying and begin to thrive at once. Give it a trial. EDUCATING WILLIAM.

His Mother-in-law Tells His Wife the Subtle Process.

"He isn't stingy," declared the young woman, rather indignantly. "I'm sure he's as generous as he can be in most things, but"—

"Oh, I know," said the elder woman. "Your father used to be a great deal the same way."

"Pa!" exclaimed the young woman.

"Until he got educated," said the elder woman. "I had to educate him, of course, and you'll have to educate William. Arguing isn't any use."

"I know," said the young woman sadly. "I've tried it."

"And crying isn't any use," said the elder, with some severity.

The young woman blushed and glanced hastily at a mirror that hung on the wall.

"No, your eyes aren't red," said the elderly woman reassuringly, "but you have been crying, and I tell you it won't do, and coaxing won't work one time in a dozen."

"Then how?"

"Use your common sense. [illegible] ways. Take him to [illegible] the next time you go. That's one good way of making [illegible] a woman can't dress [illegible]"

The young woman shook [illegible] "You don't know William [illegible]" she said. "I'd be worse off than [illegible], and, besides, he wouldn't go."

"Oh, yes, he would," said the elderly woman confidently. "He will if you manage him properly. You tell some man friend what exquisite taste he has when he's around and notice how he begin to swell up. I never knew a man who didn't believe that he knew more about what was becoming a woman than she did herself. Then follow that up by asking him to help you select a hat. He'll do it fast enough if you can make him really believe you depend on his judgment."

"But, mother"—

"I suppose you think he'll pick out some five dollar horror or something that doesn't suit you at all."

"I'm afraid he would."

"Well, he wouldn't. You begin by persuading him to go to some dollar and ninety-eight millinery store and watch the label. Look in at the window and comment favorably on one or two of the shapes if you can't do anything else, especially if some other people are standing by looking in. He'll insist on your going to some decent place. Don't take him to Elise, though. Any place where there's a fairly good assortment, but not where they charge $80 hats as a matter of course. All you've got to do is to pick out an intelligent saleswoman and insist on something inexpensive. If she brings out anything over $8, say: 'Oh, dear, I can't afford to pay that price.'"

"I don't see"—

"Well, you will. You'll see that he'll insist on seeing something better, and you'll see that he'll be about as helpless as a babe between you and the saleswoman, and he'll see that the only way he can assert himself is to urge you not to consider expense. Don't tell me he won't. I know 'em. You will have any hat you want, and he'll walk out of the store under the impression that he selected it. And you don't want to disabuse his mind either. Tell him that you think the hat is perfectly charming and you are afraid he has been extravagant and the one at $11 would have done just as well. See if you can't tell you that it's economy in the long run to get a good thing and that you will get more than $5 worth of satisfaction out of the difference in price. But don't ever let him confess to you."

"But"—

"I guess it wouldn't do. But don't forget to tell him how your friends raved over the hat and how surprised they were when you told them it was his choice and how they said they would like to have their husbands pick out a hat for them and how you thought of it, but didn't say it, and mention casually as the thing goes on to any other thing you have that you always let him select your hats on account of his exquisite taste, the only drawback being his criminal disregard of price. The same thing applies to gowns or anything else."

"I think it would be awful to have to be always cringingly taking him around."

"You won't have to," said the elderly woman. "Don't you worry about that. He'll get tired after the first few times that you get what you want yourself. But you won't hear any more about your extravagance. He'll get his horizon extended. But on no any account let him lose his good opinion of his taste."

"It seems a little deceptive," said the young woman, "but I almost believe I'll try it."—Chicago News.

YOUR TRUE COMMUTER.

He Must Be by Nature a Man Who Takes to Routine.

Your true commuter must be by nature a man who takes to routine. There are those who have commuted for a quarter century or more and never have got accustomed to the trick and never will. They are the ones who write letters to the newspapers, airing their grievances against the heartless railroad corporations. They are not born commuters. They have had commutation thrust upon them. But many really enjoy the life of the commuter. They like the checklike regularity. They like the pleasant social aspect of the early morning trip to town, the neighborly interest in one another's affairs, the ample time for reading the newspapers, which non-commuting city residents miss by not being obliged to get an early start. They look forward to the pleasant relaxation of the whist game on the way home, with head on one side to keep the smoke out of their eyes. Some of them even say that they enjoy being awakened early in the morning.

In time all who work in New York will come to it. Meanwhile, for the man with a family it appears to be in many ways a happy solution of a difficult problem. Undoubtedly it is a more wholesome existence physically, but mentally and spiritually it has the defects of its virtues when pursued all the year round. The commuter devotes the best part of the day to one narrow corner of the city. The rest of his time not consumed on the train is in still more narrowing atmosphere of the suburbs. He neither gets all the way into the life of the city nor clean out into the country. So his view of things has neither the perspective of robust rurality nor the sophistication of a man in the city and of it. His return to nature is only halfway. His urbanity is suburbanity. Much of our literature, art and especially criticisms show the taint of the commuter's point of view. —Jesse Lynch Williams in Century.
